

SAMANTHA FAKAHANY

240 Centre Street, New York, NY ▪ (832) 370 2957 ▪ sfakahany@icloud.com

EDUCATION

Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York

- Bachelor of Arts, 2018
- Concentrations: Literature, Anthropology

Queens University Belfast, Belfast, Northern Ireland

- Exchange Student, Fall 2013
- Studied Irish literature, linguistic anthropology, and discourse analysis; researched and analyzed the speech and language patterns of Ulster Scots

Sewanee—The University of the South, Sewanee, TN

- Fall 2011- Spring 2013
- Majors: English, Anthropology
- British Studies at Oxford University, 2012

SKILLS

- Adobe Creative Suite, FinalCut Pro X 10.4, Microsoft Office, WordPress

EXPERIENCE

Freelance Researcher, Bauer Publishing ▪ April 2019- present

- Coordinate with senior and executive editors of FIRST for Women/Woman's World; pitch story and profile ideas for future issues; conduct preliminary interviews with potential subjects for "Heroes in Uniform" and "The Power of Love".

Freelance Researcher, Breaking Media ▪ Jan 2019- May 2019

- Formatted, proofread, and fact-checked two eBooks concerning Philadelphia company Spark Therapeutics' gene therapy breakthrough for MedCity News, a publication under the Breaking Media umbrella.

Associate, Spoken Stone Vintage ▪ June 2018- December 2018

- Assisted with all aspects of a growing small business, including sales, vintage buying, administrative tasks, branding, cataloguing, and merchandising.
- Managed company calendar; organize meetings and appointments.
- Catalogued, identify, and sort company stock of over 1,000 vintage pieces.
- Designed marketing materials, including business cards and tote bags.
- Provided sales support at various antique shows and private events.

Intern, David Black Agency ▪ May 2013- September 2013

- Read and evaluated manuscripts, wrote formal acceptance and rejection letters and reader reports; drafted and edited book proposals and pitches, maintained and helped design both company and author websites, filed contracts.